

Name..... Date given - January 2017, return before the end of February.

You are never without home learning; there is always something you can improve.

Merlin and Osprey Home Learning

Home Learning Project.

What do you want to learn about? What do you want to create? What skills will you use? How will you improve? What standards will you set yourself?

Your task is to learn about the Rainforest and present your learning in a creative and imaginative way.

You can select any area that interests you. For example: you might choose animals, plants, climate, pollution; saving endangered animals or thinking about conservation of the rainforest. It's up to you. Have fun with your learning.

What to do. You can present your learning in many different forms:

Write an information text; write a story; make a model; produce a collage; a piece of art; 3D model; write poems and plays; design a presentation on your computer; visit the library; make a video or audio presentation or visit places of interest with your family - like Kew gardens.

DO NOT copy work from books or the internet.

Enjoy learning

What skills will you be developing?

Remember the Ashley Learning Powers.

thinking

resilience

independence collaboration

reflection

